TENNESSEE SOCIETY.

How Two of Its Members Proved Themselves Equal to the Occasion.

The Chattanooga (Tenn.) correspondent of the Chicago Times some time ago attended a typical Tennessee wedding at Sam Lowell's cabin on Sand Mountain. People came on foot and on horseback from all parts of the mountain, for the Lowells were "society folks" and had a comfortable cabin with ten acres of cleared land.

It was early in the afternoon, but a number of visitors had already arrived. The women were in the house holding consultations as to whether the bride should wear her bonnet or not during the ceremony and assisting her in the preparation of her trousseau, which was the finest ever seen on the mountain. The dress was made of white muslin and around the waist was a wide yellow sash, with streamers almost reaching the floor. This was the pride of Mandy Lowell's heart; it was wider and longer than any sash ever beheld in that neighborhood and the color was brighter. She insisted on wearing her wedding hat; "else what tarnation good 'r that in a buyin' of it!" she argued. It had been brought all the way from Atlanta, and been added to after it came into a wonderful work of art. The high crown was surmounted by an immense white bow; around it was a beautiful red ribbon, while the streamers were of the brightest blue. On one side was a green bow, and on the other a scarlet one, each of which was fastened by an immense silver-plated pin. The idea of not wearing this hat at her wedding was not to be entertained for a moment.

While the women were discussing the details of the dress and preparing for the wedding supper, the men were standing by the fence, each with one foot resting easily on the lower rail while they whittled at the posts and talked of the times when they were young and courted the maidens who were now their wives.

The bridegroom had gone twenty miles over the mountain to get to the wedding, and the necessary license. The squire who was to perform the ceremony walked meditatively back and forth in front of the house, looking quite uncomfortable in the dancing boots which he had put on for the first time since his last marriage service ten years before.

The day was fast drawing to a close when the bridegroom rode up with the license. He was clothed in a doekin suit, to which he had evidently not yet become accustomed. It was the only suit of the kind that the village store had and the creases showed that it had long remained in stock before it was sold. The coat was too large and the pantaloons too short, but, as the merchant said, "that made no difference; it wouldn't be worn more than once or twice a year," and to Tom Tilford's eyes they were the finest clothes he had ever dreamed of owning. He dismounted and received the congratulations of the guests in advance of the ceremony. He entered the cabin and the bride blushing retreated into the improvised dressing-room, which had been made by hanging a sheet across one corner.

"I knowed you'd git ketchin'," "It stands to reason that no man couldn't go with Mandy 'thout git'in' stuck." "I think you'll make as peart a couple as was ever hitched," and other rough but well-meant expressions greeted him as he entered.

The bride's mother acted as hostess, and in the midst of her cooking would run, with flour still on her hands, to bid her guests a hearty welcome as they entered. The cabin consisted of only one room and a loft, which was attached to the room served as a kitchen. The floor was of puncheon, and lime had been placed in the cracks and packed tight with a maul for the dancers. An old man stood in one corner with a violin. He was to furnish the music, as he had done at every wedding in that region for many years. The women, on entering, arranged themselves around the room; the men, when the first greetings were over, would repair to the front fence.

When supper was ready all gathered about the table, but ate sparingly, for the hostess gave the caution: "Don't yer go to eatin' too much, for the big supper is a-comin'; not as I keef for the things, but I don't want yer to spile the big supper." After the meal the dishes were cleared away and the wedding was announced.

The Squire placed a Bible and a copy of the Revised Statutes on the table, and said: "This 'ere court will come to order. Tom Tilford, stan' up. Mandy Lowell, whair air ye?" The bride appeared from the dressing room retreat resplendent with her hat, the objections to which she had overborne. She blushing walked up to the side of her lover and seized his left hand in her right. "See hyar, that w'rite," said the squire. "You must jine right hands ter marriages; left hands is good only fer divorces, and ye don't want to be divorced yet," and he chuckled at his wit. "Now, both on you jine right hands; that's right," he added, as they complied with his directions. "Now let loose and hold up yer right hands and kiss the Bible." This was done.

"Tom Tilford, do you solemnly swear to take this yer woman, Mandy Lowell, as yer lawful wedded wife, to have and to hold, to love and to cherish, until death do you part, and with worldly goods dower her according to statoots made and provided? Say 'I do.'"

"I do," Tom responded.

"Now, Mandy Lowell, do you solemnly swear to take this man fer yer lawful wedded husband till death do you part and to love him and take keef of him and obey him according to Scripeter and statoots? Say 'I do.'"

"Then, by the power vested in me as justice of the peace I declare you Mr. and Mrs. Lowell—I mean Mr. and Mrs. Tilford—and what God and I, as justice of the peace, elected by the honest voters of the county, has put together let no man put asunder if he doesn't want to git licked by the hull settlement. I will now kiss the bride according to good old custom."

The Pope's Favorite Game.

The Pope has a weakness for chess. He is a very fine player, and in the amateur ranks is said to have few superiors in the knowledge of gambits and openings. There is one priest in Rome who has the respect honor of being the Pope's adversary over the board. This priest—Father Giella—has played chess with Leo Pecci for thirty-two years past. When Cardinal Pecci was raised to the papal throne Father Giella, who was then in Florence, got an invitation to proceed to Rome and take up his quarters in the Vatican. Giella is hot-tempered, and has been known to look very black indeed at the Vicar of Christ across his chess-board. The Pope takes Giella's temper good-naturedly, and often improves the occasion by a little homily on the virtues of resignation and meekness.

WE ALL DREAM.

And a Fortunate Thing It Is for Most of Us That We Do.

The young man dreams of the young girl, and the young girl dreams of the young man, says a writer in the San Francisco Chronicle. The old maid dreams of the man who once loved her, and her imagination fills up to date the vacuum in her heart and her life. It must be awfully comfortable to dream of a husband who has been true to you all his life. It is given to every woman to dream of a husband who will be true to her; but to dream of one who has been is one of the consoling prerogatives of the old maid. I fancy the crustiest old bachelor dreams sometimes of that girl he came near proposing to twenty years ago; and he knows now she would have accepted him. He was afraid she would then, and so he didn't ask her; but it is a consolation to reflect in his growing age that she most certainly would have married him. But there are so few old bachelors nowadays. Divorce is so easy that every body risks things and gets married. And I suppose there are men and women who dream of divorce, and fashion bright fancies of freedom to solace the suffering from the chains of matrimony. It is sad. There are not many things in the world so touching, so heroic, so grand, as a woman holding nobly to her marriage vow and her motherhood in the face of neglect, cruelty, maltreatment on the part of a husband. But after all a woman is never really brought out except by sufferings of herself or of those she loves. But that has nothing to do with dreaming. We all dream; we all like to dream, and it is a happy dispensation of Providence that one disappointment does not prevent our dreaming again.

5 O'CLOCK EDITION.

THE Enterprise editor claims that his paper is only run as a "political weapon."

THE great independent (?) "political weapon" continues to come regularly, but where is its editor?

THE esteemed New York World (Dem.) has discovered that Mr. Cleveland is enjoying a fierce attack of the "big head."

THE Democratic organs declare that "Mr. Cleveland is again a possibility." It must be confessed, however, that he is a very remote one.

THE able Democratic editors have temporarily forgotten that a solemn duty rests upon them to issue daily bulletins regarding Mr. Blaine's health.

THE attitude which the present Administration has taken relative to the silver question, if our dispatches of yesterday are to be relied upon, is not calculated to make many friends on this coast. If Mr. Harrison goes back on the pledge he took at the Chicago Convention his name will be denigrated four years hence. We shall not condemn him, however, until the truth of the statement is verified, but will take occasion to say that his friendship towards the Pacific States has not been very pronounced. The coast has got nothing yet worth having and Mr. Harrison does not seem to be extremely friendly toward us, and if his silver policy is such as to create distrust we predict a Waterloo when the next Presidential election takes place, and, if he has allowed himself to be influenced by Wall street money jobbers, we shall say, "Hail the day."

THE Courier-Journal gives a vivid description of the running of the Derby in Louisville last week. The day was very warm and the track heavy, and we would judge that about the only advantage Spokane had over Proctor Knott and one or two other colts was that he was ridden with more judgment. The rider of Knott either did not or could not reduce the speed of his colt enough at the start. He took the lead at a killing pace, and kept it up until he was so badly winded that when called upon for a final burst he could not make it. Spokane was fourth in the race for more than a mile, and though tired he gathered for the final crisis and won, though it was but by a head. Could Knott have been kept down a couple of seconds on the first mile, down beside Spokane until the final call was made, it is possible that he might have won, for his "liver seems to be a tempest and his blood red flame." He went up the track kicking and plunging, and ran nearly a mile on two false starts, while Spokane was a philosopher and saved his strength for the time when it would count. Knott ran just as Mollie McCarthy did when beaten on the same track in 1878.

Dishonest Assessors.
INDIANAPOLIS, May 16.—For some time past there have been more or less irregularities in the office of Township Assessor Quill. The matter was recently brought to the attention of the Grand Jury, and that body to-day returned indictments against Assessor Quill and Chief Deputy Charles Tyler. The men are indicted jointly and there are five counts against each—conspiracy, grand larceny, obtaining money under false pretenses, presenting false claims to the County Auditor and presenting false claims to the County Commissioners. The indictments are based on the facts of dummies being placed on the Assessor's pay-roll. Both were released on $5,000 bonds.

The Sugar Market.
TRIESTE, May 17.—A conference of the Austrian and Hungarian sugar merchants was held to-day. Resolutions were adopted urging the Government to withdraw from the London sugar bounties convention.

Declined to Participate.
BERLIN, May 17.—The negotiations between the mine owners and the striking miners, looking to a settlement of their disputes, has been suspended, owing to the Krabber mine owners declining to negotiate.

New Transportation Scheme.
NEW YORK, May 17.—A new scheme of transportation will be introduced between New York and Boston, whereby, it is said, large packages of mail, and even cars containing passengers, can be whisked from one place to the other, a distance of seventy-five miles, in less than an hour. An experiment with the new machine was held in Boston in the presence of many scientists, including Professor A. F. Dolevar of Tufts College, who announced that he was thoroughly satisfied of the success of the system. The machine consists of a magnetic car, hanging from a single rail, where it follows a streak of electricity. With one horse-power, it is said, one ton can be transported 440 miles a day at a cost of thirty cents.

Not a Good Showing.
NEW YORK, May 17.—The second day's session of the Presbyterian Assembly opened with prayer and singing. The old rules for the government were adopted, and the standing Committee appointed. The Educational Committee reported that at the present time there were 500 churches without pastors, owing to a lack of funds. The rate of dissolution last year was 36 per cent., the largest in the history of the church, and is due to the lack of money. Special attention was called to the need of work among the colored people and the constant diminution of the ministerial course, caused by reason of old age and disease.

The Meat Traffic.
NEW YORK, May 17.—The conference between the Directors of the American Meat Company and the Trustees of the American Cattle Trust was continued to-day. The meeting was private, but enough was learned from an authentic source to warrant the statement that the alleged deal between the two concerns will have been consummated by to-night. The conference looks to the formation of a traffic agreement by which the Meat Company will handle the product of the cattle trust, making the pecuniary outcome beneficial to both.

Cherokee Indian Lands.
ST. LOUIS, May 17.—The latest information from the Cherokee nation is to the effect that Chief Mays has taken no action in the matter of furnishing transportation facilities for the commission, which is expected there on the 25th inst. to negotiate for the purchase of Indian lands. He declines to call the national council in special session to consider the matter but says he will submit to that body at its regular session in November, any proposition the commission may make.

The Parnell Commission.
LONDON, May 17.—Father O'Donovan testified before the Parnell Commission that the moon-lighters at Tulla were opposed to the League. They threatened the witness while connected with the League. He attributed the increase of crime during the League's existence to the action of the landlords in enforcing evictions. The witness denounced crime from the altar of his church on forty Sundays. The commission will not make a report to the House of Commons until February next.

Establishing a Reputation.
CHICAGO, May 17.—Frank Jasinski is a young tough of 16 years who has a "Wild West" outfit of revolvers, knives, etc. Last night he stood among his admirers with a rifle in his hand, and to justify their esteem of him he deliberately shot down Frank Kiowski and Mike Mega, lads of his own age, standing a hundred feet or more away, and the former will die. Jasinski escaped.

Want Information.
WASHINGTON, May 17.—The Interstate Commerce Commission has issued a circular to the labor organizations of the country soliciting information and discussion upon the question of the Federal regulation of railroads.

An American Prima Donna.
PARIS, May 17.—The French papers unanimously compliment Sybil Sanderson, the American prima donna, upon her success in Mascagni's new opera last Wednesday evening.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Nelson Colbert (colored) was hanged this afternoon for the murder of Philip Wentzel in October last. His neck was broken.

Exporting Gold Bars.
NEW YORK, May 17.—A million dollars in gold bars have been ordered for export to France. Three quarters of a million more gold has been ordered for Europe.

The Samson Conference.
BERLIN, May 17.—The session of the Samson Conference to-day lasted two hours.

Few Appointments.
WASHINGTON, May 17.—The President to-day made the following appointments: Wm. D. Lee of New Mexico, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of New Mexico; John W. Whitehead of Nevada, United States Attorney for the District of Nevada; James W. Savage of Omaha, Government Director of the Union Pacific.

The following appointments were made in the Geological Survey: Wm. H. Hall of Sacramento, Cal., and Edwin S. Nettleton of Colorado, Supervising Engineers; Arthur D. Foote of Idaho, Lyman Bridges of California and Alexander O. Brodie of Arizona, Engineers for Irrigation Surveys; Willard B. Johnson of the District of Columbia, Topographer, and Wm. B. Yost of Maryland, Photographer.

A Material Advance.
NEW YORK, May 17.—To-day is the last day on which shares of the Oregon Transcontinental Company can be transferred. Both the Smith and Villard parties are urging buyers of stock to be delivered before 2:15 p. m. Their efforts to acquire stock has caused the price to advance to 40 1/2. This is the first time the stock has sold above par since 1883, when Villard went under after driving the golden spike on the Northern Pacific. While the stock sold at 40 for cash, it sold at 33 in the regular way, to be delivered on Monday, actually making the voting value equal to $700 for every 100 shares. In the last hour the demand for cash stock became still more urgent, and the price moved to 45, then jumped 5 per cent. on one sale to fifty, then moved up still higher on a one per cent fluctuation.

Baptist Missionaries.
BOSTON, May 17.—The fifty-seventh annual meeting of the American Baptist Home Mission Society began this afternoon. There are now 3,000,000 Baptists in this country. Mission work has been conducted during the year in forty-five States and Territories, and in Ontario, Manitoba, Alaska and three States of the Mexican Republic. The whole number of laborers supported is 790. There are several day schools among the Chinese, two in Utah and five in Mexico. The report of the Treasurer showed $375,000 received; total expenditures, $404,000. A resolution was adopted that great religious destitution prevails among the army of the United States, and asking the co-operation of other religious bodies to improve it.

Bolivia Heard From.
WASHINGTON, May 17.—A dispatch has been received by the State Department from Carlisle, United States Minister to Bolivia, stating that Bolivia would be represented at the conference of South American nations to be held here next August. It is understood that Bolivia will send a Minister Plenipotentiary to Washington, and will make the United States a first-class mission.

Talk of Resigning.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—It is unofficially announced that the woolen mills of this city, established in 1858, will suspend operations within a few weeks. The suspension is a voluntary one, but has virtually been forced by the unprofitable character of the business during the last few years. The capital stock at this date is $1,000,000 paid up. The factory now gives employment, at times, to 500 or 600 people.

The Race for the American Cup.
NEW YORK, May 16.—The New York Yacht Club has a letter from Lord Dunraven accepting and agreeing with all requirements regarding the America Cup race, save that he wants the races started at a given hour and not at the discretion of the committee.

To-day's Races.
GRAVESEND, May 17.—The first race of seven furlongs Hanover won, Guarantee second, Eolian third. Time, 1:28 1/2.
Second race, one mile, Ballston won, Frank Ward second, Geo. L. third. Time, 1:42 1/2.

New Pension Applicants.
WASHINGTON, May 16.—Applications for pensions are beginning to come in at the Pension Office from the widows and dependent relatives of the officers and men who lost their lives in the recent naval disaster at Samoa. To-day a colored woman, whose son was employed on one of the lost vessels, appeared at the Pension Office and filed her claim for a pension.

A Defunct Corporation.
BELVIDERE, N. J., May 17.—A receiver has been appointed for the West End Mining Company, owning iron mines in Huntingdon county, Pennsylvania. The liabilities are reported to be from $300,000 to $500,000 greater than its assets.

A Close Race.
CHICAGO, May 16.—The score in the six-day cycling tournament at the end of the fourth day was as follows: Prince and Knapp, each 475 miles and 7 laps; Reading and Morgan, each 475 miles and 5 laps; Schock, 469 miles and 4 laps.

CIVIL SERVICE

The Appearance of Candidates for Positions.
One of the most interesting sights to be found in Washington is the examination rooms of the Civil Service Commission. The scene is one of intense, suppressed excitement. Pretty girls are bent over desks, some of them leaning their heads on their hands in discouraged inertia and others driving away as if the moment was immediately before them when they must lay down their pens and simply await results. Young men with their fashionable clothes are seated side by side with old citizens who have passed the time of life when personal appearance is regarded as a matter worthy of much consideration. Like love, the civil service examination levels all ranks for the time being, and likely as not, a man with twenty years of business experience is competing for a place with a girl fresh from the atmosphere of the high school.

A Popular Orator.
Hon. Hugh S. Thompson, who is the Democratic representative of the Civil Service Commission, was formerly Governor of South Carolina and Superintendent of Education. He has been Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. He is supported by the Democrats and has strong friends among Northern Republicans.

An Expression of Delight.
"About a week ago," says a Los Angeles, Cal., druggist, "a Chinaman came in with a lame shoulder. I sold him a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and guaranteed that it would cure him. He came in again last night, and as soon as he got inside the door began to swing his arms over his head like an Indian club swinger. I thought the blamed fool had a fit, but he finally stopped long enough to say: 'Medicine velly fine, velly fine; alle our make up feel plenty good.' Chamberlain's Pain Balm is without an equal for sprains, rheumatism, aches, pains or lams back. For sale by O. Burn & Shoemaker."

The Verdict Unanimous.
W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Belleville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters cures all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half a dollar a bottle, at S. J. Hodgkinson's druggist.

Answer this Question.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy.

This is the season of the year when the raw cold winds create and have with the hands and complexion. Soft, white hands and a clear "peachy" complexion can be assuredly preserved by the frequent application of Dandelion Tonic. If rubbed into the skin well it leaves no greasy surface. The skin absorbs it. Sold by William Pinniger.

A Woman's Discovery. Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle was miraculously cured. A PAIR OF CROOKS.

One of Whom Was Taken and the Other Let Go.

Yesterday F. C. Updike, the painter, who was at work on the front of the Toronto Restaurant, saw a fellow snatch a bolt of dress goods from the front of Ed Northrop's store and start down the street with it. Updike dropped his brush and made a heroic effort to detain the thief, who discouraged the amateur "Cop" by giving him a "paster" on the nose. By this time, however, others had been attracted by the disturbance and the fellow was handcuffed and taken over the river. About the time the above was going on, a young fellow snatched a watch from Russuk's show window and started down the alley but was followed by the proprietor and induced to disgorge. The thief begged so hard that Russuk let him off after administering a brief lecture on the immorality of appropriating, without compensation, the property of other people.

PERSONAL.

Louis Dean returned this morning from California.

Benjamin Reinhardt of Elko passed east this morning.

W. C. Goode, the popular agent of Baker & Hamilton, was in town last evening.

Hon. L. W. Getchell of Austin was in town yesterday and left for home this morning.

Mrs. Jennie Lewis left this morning for California, intending to be absent until next Fall.

G. S. Nixon and wife of Winnemucca returned this morning from San Francisco on their way home.

Leo Updike, who has just completed a course at Health's Business College, at San Francisco, returned to Reno this morning.

No Jurisdiction.

John Teeples and August Vender, who were adjudged guilty of selling spirituous liquor to Indians, by W. C. Taylor, Justice of the Peace at Wadsworth, on the plea of guilty, and sentenced each to fifty days in the county jail, were brought before Judge Bigelow yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus and discharged. The penalty for selling spirituous liquor to Indians is a fine not exceeding $1,000, and imprisonment not exceeding two years, and if the imprisonment exceeds six months the offender has to be sent to the State Prison. The discharge was granted on the ground that Justices of the Peace have no jurisdiction over the offense other than to bind the offender over to await an investigation of the Grand Jury.

A Copious Rain.

Rain has been falling copiously all over the northwestern part of the State, at times accompanied by snow in the valleys and an abundant snow fall in the mountains. This has continued since last Monday night up to the present time. The rains have been heavy from Austin northward to Quinn River valley. All parties interested are full of joy, for, while these rains will not assure us against very dry weather in the latter part of the coming summer, they do assure us that the dried up springs and fountains will not remain entirely dry, at they have been for a time—the past winter and during the early spring.

Fully Appreciated.

No one, unless they are actually engaged in farming or the live-stock business, can appreciate the great good that will come of the last storm. The localities where the ground was parched and literally cooked for the want of water are coming out in good shape, and very good crops are assured. The grain in Long and Honey Lake Valleys, which was choking out and was of a pale, sickly green, has revived and looks healthy and strong. The meadows in those localities were stunted, and would not have produced any hay at all had not the storm come just as it did. The farmers now look forward to a prosperous season.

Pork—Live Hogs, on foot, grain fed, 5½¢; soft, 5½¢; dressed, 9½¢ per pound.

No Funds Available.

After having completed his arrangements for the inspection of the completed surveys in this State, which preparations were made under direction of the Commissioner of the General Land Office, General Irish has been informed by telegraph that there are no funds available for the payment of such service, consequently the work has been deferred.

Cleaning House.

Bob Parry of the Depot Hotel is "cleaning house." He is having the hall and all the rooms papered and repainted. He is contemplating many other improvements that if he carries out the house will rank with the Palace of San Francisco for convenience and elegance.

Miller's Well.

James Miller's artesian well was down yesterday 1,065 feet and no indication of water. They are still in clay and will only go 60 feet more, and if they do not strike water it will be abandoned.

Fine Stock.

A carload of Hereford bulls, shipped at some place in Illinois and consigned to Sacramento, passed here this morning. They ranged from three months to three years old and were all thoroughbreds.

TRUCKEE ITEMS.

Became Insane—A Large Reservoir—A Rustling Swindler.

The Truckee Republican says: Thomas King of Boca became insane a week ago last Monday. At first his malady seemed to be of a mild type, but Sunday and Monday he became violent and dangerous, a veritable madman. Yesterday his brother brought him to Truckee, and Justice Leggett, after taking affidavits as to King's mental condition, sent him to Nevada City. He is a carpenter and has been in the employ of the Boca Brewing Co. recently. He is well known in Truckee, and his many friends sincerely hope that proper medical treatment will soon restore his faculties.

W. H. Kruger of the Truckee Lumber Company has purchased the tract of land at the foot of Donner Lake formerly owned by Mrs. Moss. It contains 320 acres, and includes the Porter place, the hotel, the picnic grounds, Hector Stramberg's, the boat landing and the race course. Mr. Kruger proposes to erect a wagon of water, and to greatly beautify the grounds. He will also construct a dam at the mouth of the lake which will control the waters between high and low water mark. This difference is ten feet, and the enormous quantity of water, sent by adding ten feet to the height of Donner Lake is sufficient to supply all the Reno ditches during the irrigating season.

There's a man named Murdock somewhere in town drunk, who has all the essential qualities of a financier. Broke and unknown, he came to Truckee and obtained a wood contract from Tiffany and Stewart, representing that he had two four-horse teams. He then went to Reno, and exhibiting his contract, bought a wagon of Manuag, two horses and a set of harness from Bickford, and a carload of hay from W. W. Morton. It is said that he came to Truckee in a box car, not having money enough to pay his fare. Arriving here he sold the wagon to McKenzie for $80, and went a glorious drunk, from which he has not yet recovered. He offered to sell the hay for $4 a ton, but didn't happen to find a purchaser. Bickford and Morton heard of the affair and came up and secured their property. Manning seems to be the only loser.

Hardy Breed of Cattle.

The American Agriculturist says: The Ayreshire is eminently a dairy breed. The cows are active, hardy and will flourish and give good yields of milk under conditions that would starve pampered cattle. They have great power of endurance, healthy appetites, good digestion and ready adaptiveness to all vicissitudes of situation and climate. They are remarkably free from tendency to disease, tuberculosis and other affections of the respiratory organs being unknown among them. They are long-lived, often improving in milking qualities up to ten years of age.

Heavy Grain Crop.

The Biggs, Cal., Argus says: Never before have we seen a more favorable prospect for a bountiful crop of cereals than the present. During a few miles tramp this week we passed by many fields of growing wheat where the beautiful formed heads stood on a level with the top of a five-foot fence, and in passing through several large fields at many places we were unable to see out, the well-developed wheat heads being several inches above our own head.

Orange Tree Planting.

The Pomona (Cal.) Progress says: More orange trees have been planted in this region this year than ever before in the same period. In Pomona Valley over 124,000 trees have been planted at Redlands about 85,000, at Riverside 60,000, at Ontario 40,000, at South Riverside 30,000, in the territory west of Pomona 25,000, and in other localities in this region about 35,000 trees.

Washoe Brewery.

The Washoe Brewery has been leased by Bohle & Becker, and has had a thorough overhauling; cleaned, painted and furnished throughout. The brewery is noted all over the State for making the finest beer in the market by all who have used it. It is kept clean, neat and pure, and is open to all visitors. Give them a call.

DEATH OF GEN. HARNEY. THE SPEAKERSHIP.

General W. S. Harney (retired) of the United States Army died at Orlando, Fla., May 9th. General Harney liked to say he was born with the century, and some records place his birth in 1800, but the official military record names Louisiana as the place of his birth, and August, 1798, as the date. At eighteen he was in the army with an elder brother, who was a surgeon, and February, 1818, he was commissioned a Second Lieutenant and assigned to the First Infantry. Eleven months later he was elevated to a First Lieutenant, and was commissioned Captain in 1825 for gallant and meritorious service in the Black Hawk war. He served with great credit in the Mexican war. He achieved lasting renown and was promoted to Brigadier General for gallant and meritorious service at the battle of Cerro Gordo, where he served under General Harney toward the people of secession tendencies on the eve of the war of the Rebellion, gave rise to a belief in the mind of Secretary Stanton that this veteran soldier was not a proper person to command Federal troops, and after a brief service as military peace-maker on the Missouri-Kansas border, he was placed on the retired list, with the rank of Brigadier-General, and pay of $4,000 a year. Thus a man whose abilities qualified him to lead armies to victory, lost his opportunity by crying "peace, peace, when there was no peace."

A PORTABLE FORT.

Built on the Plan of the Monitors.

A Connecticut man has invented a portable fort for which he has been granted a patent. He calls it a revolving marine battery for either offense or defense. It is said to be a remarkable piece of mechanism, and is so constructed that it may be easily moved from one place to another, while continuing in perfect fighting order. It resembles a monitor in outward appearance, though it is simply a revolving battery, consisting of a steel dome or turret on a float, consisting of two hulls, which can be propelled or towed from one point to another. A peculiar feature of the arrangement is that the inner hull which contains the battery and stores, is so balanced that, like a compass, it will retain a level, regardless of the outer hull, and thus have a most accurate range for its great guns.

Deadly Firewater.

The Walker Lake Bulletin says: Several Indians got drunk at Bishop last Saturday and engaged in a cutting affair. During the melee a dusky warrior called Ben Huteh, was carved, but it can be done, if the proper treatment is adopted, as will be seen by the following from James Lambert of New Brunswick, Ill.: "I was badly bruised with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days. I am all right to-day; and I would urge on everyone who is afflicted with that terrible disease to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well at once." For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

It was maintained by the late Horace Greeley, that "nothing succeeds like success." If this be true, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will always be popular, as it never fails. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and is undoubtedly the best and most reliable medicine in use for those diseases. It is decidedly a success. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

In Three Days.

Three days is a very short time in which to cure a bad case of rheumatism, but it can be done, if the proper treatment is adopted, as will be seen by the following from James Lambert of New Brunswick, Ill.: "I was badly bruised with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days. I am all right to-day; and I would urge on everyone who is afflicted with that terrible disease to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well at once."
